ACKNOWLEDGED All over America THE FINE CAR OF LOW PRICE

ALL over America it is becoming clear that Oldsmobile has done a very important thing. It has opened the fine car field to thousands once barred by price!

This new car provides quiet, smooth performance, and the flowing power of a high compression engine. It embodies the restful comfort of silenced interiors and Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers. The striking new bodies by Fisher excel in smartness of appearance and handsome appointments.

All these elements are offered in that perfect balance which has identified high priced cars.

And no one need pay a premium to enjoy these qualities.

Motorists were quick to recognize this fact. "Two years ahead," critics and engineers said. The public took up their praise and backed it with the sincere endorsement of enthusiastic buying.

And with Oldsmobile's brilliant performance becoming a matter of common knowledge, that public acceptance has grown and grown. It proclaims this product of General Motors more than just a new car. It stamps it as the creation of an entirely new class of motor cars. It recognizes that in this class of cars Oldsmobile stands alone—The Fine Car of Low Price!

Only by driving the new Oldsmobile can you understand how completely it merits the enthusiastic admiration it is exciting! — why thousands are buying Oldsmobile. Come take that drive today!

Girls' Winning Card Selected

Movie World agrees chief allure is smooth skin!

HOLLYWOOD, CAL. — No matter what her type or what the role for which she is cast, film directors say there is one thing every girl in screenland must have — smooth, delightful skin. They agree with Howard Higgins, Pathé De Milla director, who declares that "It is the rare loveliness of their skin that has made girls of widely different types the most popular screen stars in the world."

The smooth perfection that the Klieg lights reveal in the close-ups, cannot be faked by make-up, says Hollywood. It must actually be as fine and soft as it looks. "Studio Skin," they call this exquisite smoothness, and guard it carefully. Blanche Sweet says, "My first thought is always my skin, for the camera is all-revealing—Lux Toilet Soap keeps it velvet smooth."

This new soap is made by the method France perfected for her costliest soaps. All the big film studios have made it the official dressing room soap—Lux Toilet Soap is manufactured by Lever Bros., Cambridge, Mass.

GIRLS' WINNING CARD SELECTED

Movie World agrees chief allure is smooth skin!

HOLLYWOOD, CAL. — No matter what her type or what the role for which she is cast, film directors say there is one thing every girl in screenland must have — smooth, delightful skin. They agree with Howard Higgins, Pathé De Milla director, who declares that "It is the rare loveliness of their skin that has made girls of widely different types the most popular screen stars in the world."

The smooth perfection that the Klieg lights reveal in the close-ups, cannot be faked by make-up, says Hollywood. It must actually be as fine and soft as it looks. "Studio Skin," they call this exquisite smoothness, and guard it carefully. Blanche Sweet says, "My first thought is always my skin, for the camera is all-revealing—Lux Toilet Soap keeps it velvet smooth."

SEVEN NATIONS AID IN SEARCH FOR AMUNDSEN

Fourteen Ships and Score of Planes
Co-operate.

DENY BODY FOUND Ice-breaker Reaches Five Survivors of Italia's Crew.

LONDON, July 3.—An unconfirmed report reached Copenhagen this afternoon that the English yacht Albia, lying a mile and half north of Tromsø, Norway, intercepted a radio message from Capt. Roald Amundsen, said an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen. The authorities doubt the truth of the report.

Krasin 100 Miles from Explorers.
MOSCOW, July 3.—The Russian ice-breaker Krasin, which has reported to have rescued the remaining members of the Noble group from the ice near Foyne island, was still 100 miles from the refugees today, said a radio-gram from the ship.

The Noble relief committee, which received the wireless message, said that the commander of the Krasin was confident he would be able to force his way through the floes and take on board the marooned members of the Noble party and Lieut. Lundborg, the Swedish flyer, who is with them.

The Russian ice-breaker Malgin reported by radio that he is virtually abandoned for Russian Aviator Babushkin and his mechanic who have been missing since they heaved off last Friday in an effort to locate the missing members of the Noble expedition.

OSLO, Norway, July 3.—With seven nations, fourteen ships and more than a score of planes now co-operating in the search for him, the disappearance of Captain Roald Amundsen, who with his five companions left Tromsø, Norway, in a French seaplane on June 18 to search for General Noble, was still shrouded in mystery today.

Two British Moth planes are expected to arrive here soon to join the searching expeditions. Upon their arrival the number of planes engaged in the rescue work will total 22.

In denying the report circulated yesterday that Amundsen's body had been found, relief officials here stated that none of the ships now scouring the arctic seas had reported finding any trace of the noted explorer or his plane.

LONDON, July 3.—The Soviet ice-breaker Krasin has succeeded in reaching the five survivors of the lost dirigible Italia's crew and the Swedish aviator, Lundborg, a dispatch from Moscow to the Copenhagen newspaper Sydsvenske Dagbladet transmitted here by the Exchange Telegram company stated today.

The dispatch, which was fragmentary, gave no details and failed to state whether or not the ice-breaker had succeeded in taking the marooned men aboard. There was no confirmation from any other source.

BLAST DAMAGES TWO HOUSES

Dynamite is Thrown From Moving Motor
Car at Chauncey.

ATHENS, Ohio, July 3.—Dynamite thrown from a moving motor car damaged two homes at Chauncey, six miles north of here today, according to county authorities who are investigating the blasts.

The first house dynamited was that of Frank Schoenover, who with three members of the family were in the dwelling. The charge fell short of the porch, injuring no one.

The second stick of dynamite was thrown at the home of Andrew Heading, damage was not great. None of the members of the Heading family was at home.

Schoenover is said to have been circulating petitions urging miners to go to work on the 1917 wage scale. Heading said that the attempt to blast his home was probably due to his non-union sympathies, according to the police.

FAMINE in Turkey, thousands of miserable peasants driven from the Konia Plain. Selling half-starved cattle for as little as two dollars each, they crowd toward the cities. Drought, following a bitter winter, has reduced some of the peasants to eating grass.

KEMAL PASHA fears that the Konia Plain region may never be repopulated, if the peasants leave, and strives to restrain them. Thus, at various times, vast regions formerly fertile, including wide regions in Mesopotamia and the Holy Land, have become abandoned deserts.

YOU may soon make up your mind, apart from any stunt business, to cross the ocean flying. A German concern will put a transatlantic commercial dirigible in commission, first sending the ship around the world to inspire confidence.

had requested the removal of a sanitary sewer which ran through his property from neighboring houses. The matter was referred to the service-safety director and the health board.

Ban Alley Grade Change.
George Duxton, Jefferson street, appeared before council to press a claim for $5.25, which he expended in opening a sanitary sewer near his home. He criticized Solicitor Hoover for his ruling against payment of the claim. Council took no action on Duxton's request.

J. L. Daugherty, Youngstown engineer, who has prepared plans for the improvements to Patterson field, appeared before council with an agreement by which the city would share in the construction of a drainage sewer under the Cleveland & Pittsburgh railroad tracks.

Solicitor Hoover ruled that the city could not spend municipal funds for the sewer. Daugherty explained that the board of education would give the city a 10 foot right of way across the field for the construction of a storm sewer under the proposed culvert under the railroad tracks. Council referred the matter to the streets committee, solicitor and city engineer.

Acting upon the advice of Solicitor Hoover council refused to change the grade in Greenwood alley. The proposed change, Hoover declared, would mean a fill of 15 feet, necessitating a large expenditure. A petition from Park avenue property owner asking for a change in surface drainage was referred to the service-safety director.

GOV. AL SMITH IS URGED TO EXTEND TOUR

Democratic Nominee
Considers Appeals for Speeches.

12 ARE LISTED Candidate to Make Po- sition on Dry Law Clear.

NEW YORK, July 3.—Governor Smith and his advisers today were considering appeals from all parts of the country for an extension of his campaign schedule, which at present lists only 12 speeches, to be delivered in important cities representing all sections of the union.

Many of his admirers feel that a more intensive campaign, with numerous public appearances, would be of invaluable aid in spreading knowledge of the Smith personality. Such a programme, they say, would greatly increase the chances for a Democratic victory.

They are expecting also that the governor's acceptance speech to be made in August when he is formally notified of his nomination for president, will win over many doubtful drys.

"I will make my position perfectly clear in my speech of acceptance," Governor Smith said in his suite at the Millmore, refusing further comment on the prohibition question.

Another Day of Rest.
Today was to be another day of rest for him, save for conferences with his personal advisers and some of the Democratic leaders.

Tomorrow, however, the governor makes two public appearances. In old Tammany Hall, scene of so many important events in municipal history, he will make an address at the hundred and thirty-ninth annual Independence day celebration of the organization. This is the last Fourth of July ceremony to be held there before the old quarters are abandoned.

The governor will speak on patriotism and liberty, avoiding campaign matters.

South Carolina Pledges Support.
COLUMBIA, S. C., July 3.—Expressing belief that the anti-Smith forces are so much in the minority in the south that they will not attempt to organize, Roach S. Stewart, of Lancaster, state Democratic chairman, declared today he would support the New York governor for president.

"While the South Carolina delegation did not support Smith in the convention, he was clearly the choice of all the delegates to the convention," Stewart said.

Stewart was a delegate-at-large.

CRUISER HITS THRUMP SHOALS

Dauntless, Owned by Britain, Will be Total Loss.

HALIFAX, N. S., July 3.—The British cruiser Dauntless, which struck on Thrump Cap shoals, eight miles east of Halifax, late yesterday, probably will be a total loss, according to crews of lifeboats returning early today from the shoals.

The ship struck in a dense fog and was held fast amidships, with rocks piercing her hull. Her compartments soon filled with water.

The combined efforts of five tugs and the rising tide failed to float the ship. If a storm comes up, mariners fear she will be swept off into deep water, as she is exposed to the open sea.

It is believed the boy stumbled into one of the treacherous "step-offs" in the Olentangy river, plunging into seven feet of water.

WORK PREDICTS G. O. P. VICTORY

Campaign Chieftain
Sees Majority for Hoover.

CHICAGO, July 3.—"A safe majority for Herbert Hoover, which will make him the next president of the United States."

That was the prophecy ventured here today by Hubert Work, chairman of the Republican national committee, who came from the summer White House at Brule where he conferred with President Coolidge and handed in his resignation as secretary of the interior.

Work offered that prediction after conferring with a number of middle western leaders here.

Asked how much of a majority he would expect, Work said: "I am no soothsayer, but it will be enough. Work then rather facetiously told the story credited to Abraham Lincoln who was asked how long a man's legs should be. The reply, Work quoted, was that "they should be long enough to reach to the ground."

Convention.

MANSFIELD, O., July 3.—Governor Alfred E. Smith, of New York, Democratic standard bearer in the coming presidential contest, will open his Ohio campaign with an address before the assembled delegates to the state Democratic convention at Columbus on August 24, providing his consent can be obtained, it was announced today.

Henry C. Brunner, chairman of the Democratic state central committee, who will extend a personal invitation to Governor Smith to open the convention, indicated he expected Smith will accept the invitation as the switch of the Ohio delegates at the national convention at Houston assured the New York governor's nomination on the first ballot.

Should Governor Smith accept the invitation, Brunner said, he will make no speeches other than at the August 24 engagement on this visit but plans to come to Ohio for several speeches later in the campaign.

western States

Most of the damages was to farming communities where crops were laid low by wind and hail.

The storms struck in Minnesota, Wisconsin, North and South Dakota. The velocity of the wind was estimated in excess of 70 miles an hour. Hail, lightning and thunder accompanied the wind.

Lightning was responsible for two of the five persons killed, while the other three deaths resulted from the collapse of buildings.

Senator Curtis is spending his vacation here at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Webster Knight, playing with his grand children.

While there has been no official explanation of Sir William Horwood's retirement, it is understood that it resulted partly from arrests of persons in Hyde Park and the method employed by the police in applying the "third degree."

"Strong arm methods" of obtaining information from persons arrested on suspicion are not tolerated in England, as they are in some other countries.

Fox and Coon Hunters Await July 4 Card

Entries From Ohio, Pennsylvania, Kentucky and West Virginia Will compete in Field Trials and Bench Shows.

Stage is set for what Wellsville sportsmen expect to be one of the most interesting sports events in recent years here, the initial field trials and bench show of the newly organized Ohio Valley Fox and Coon Hunters' association, scheduled for Fourth of July at Hammond park.

Iva Fowler of Warrendale, Pa., will enter 2 coon dogs and bring two trained coons for the chase.

Among others who are expected to attend are Dr. M. Casper, Louisville, Ky., owner of Rex of Woodland for which he paid $1,000; Sam Woolridge, Versailles, Ky., well known breeder; Walker Brothers, Paint Lick, Ky., owner of Peggy, who won the national $5,000 sweepstakes at Washington C. H., in 1925; Alex Parish, Berea, Ky., breeder and owner of Hub Dawson No. 908, who sired more bench and field trial winners than any hound today; J. H. Albaugh, Dennison, Ohio's best breeder of Walker fox hounds, on whose leash will be seen Siring Roy, Ustah and Corkell, and who will run the great matron, Audrin, who has 22 trophies to her credit.

Among the Wellsville entries will be Mark, owned by W. C. McConnell, a Trumbo sired by James Eberhill Kennell of Rushville, Mo.; Ben, owned by "Hobo" Mitchell, East Liverpool, sired by Wildfire, of the Fritz Romeo Kennels, Hamburg, Germany, and with more catches to his credit than any dog in a foreign country; Bid, owned by George Sato, sired by famous Jack ex Hugh Dawson No. 908, C. B. Fogo who introduced high class fox hounds into this district; Bid has been known to take a fox trail 72 hours old, trailing it out, jumping and running it until it caught or holed; Flora, owned by E. C. Payne, sired by Pennsylvania Bill, John Rambo of Shippingport, Flora has been on hunts with Bid Queen, owned by R. H. Desher, This dog was sired by Faldender, Rushville, Mo., and Desher paid the nest sum of $500 for it.

Charles Barnhart, president of the foxhunters' club near Conco, will attend the Hammond park session, with his dog, Roy, a favorite.

With such "coons" as owned by Edward Taylor, Rube Clark, Dan Shepherd, William McConnell and others, local sportsmen are confident of coping the trophy.

National rules will prevail for the fox hunt. In the event of reasonable dissatisfaction the run under protest will be repeated. Judges will be instructed to keep the released foxes from running ridges, and inasmuch as some hounds are run shy, police are prohibiting fireworks in the park.

The bench show will start at 1 o'clock with the entry list open to everyone. Four classes will be shown, besides the puppies, as follows:

Females, whelped on or before January 1, 1927; dogs whelped on or after January 1, 1927; all age females; all age dogs. Blue, red, pink and white ribbons will be awarded. The four winners in each class will compete in the finals. From these the winner will be selected. The best coon dog will be taken from this group as a whole.

First arrivals among the many hunters expected from Pennsylvania, Kentucky, West Virginia and Ohio will reach here around a. m., tomorrow, according to officials in charge of the event.

Hammond park, with its surrounding hills, is said to be ideally situated for the chase.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, July 3.—Dullness with irregular price movements in the important stocks prevailed in the stock market in the early trading today. It was recognized that the conditions which forced the 10 per cent call loan rate this week were temporary, and would doubtless disappear with the completion of the July settlements. Nothing better than a 6 per cent call loan market was looked for until about the middle of the month, but a gradual subsidence of the abnormal money market conditions is to be expected. The renewal rate today was posted at 8 per cent. Indicating that adjustments in the money situation had by no means been completed.

On the eve of the Independence day holiday, many of the important traders withdrew from the market, and the evening-up processes of the professionals constituted the chief business of the market in the first hour. General Motors, Radio and other speculative leaders were churned around within a narrow radius, prices moving as freely in one direction as the other. United States Steel recovered a point or so on good speculative buying and General Motors, after declining a point to 184 3/4, moved up to 186. Radio advanced from 175 to 179 in a small turnover.

Katies Stop Wellsville In 1-0 Tilt; Newell Beats Turk Nash

Baker is Victor in Slab Duel With 'Yock' Huffman

Laughlin Game is Awarded Motors on Evans Protest, Giving Fowler Combine Slight Lead in Percentage Column.

GETTING to "Sonny Deshler for 13 safe bingles, Homer Laughlin China last night defeated Turk Nash, 10 to 2, at Smith Field, Chester, while the Motors in general turned in a listless game.

The winners pitched "Curly" Evans, former Chester hurler and much disputed player in the last few weeks and, as a result, President C. W. Davis awarded the game to Turk Nash in conformity with the ruling made by league managers at their last meeting Friday night to the effect that no club would be permitted to use any of the Chester players until the second half.

This ruling was made after several clubs pilots had discussed the advisability of taking members of the Chester club, which withdrew from the league several weeks ago. It was pointed out that if the Chester club should happen to decide to re-enter the circuit, it should be permitted and encouraged to do so. In order to leave the way open then, managers agreed to "lay off" all Chester players until after the second half. It was the understanding that in the event the Chester franchise is not taken over by that club again, the players would be eligible to join other clubs.

Manager Joe Dickey of Laughlin contended that Evans was a free agent and in the event that a majority of the managers agreed to his use, he should be eligible to play. In fact Evans had played several games without protest.

The loss of the game would not affect Laughlin considerably as the West Virginians are not in the pennant race, but it does put Turk Nash in first place, just a few percentage points ahead of Wellsville, which lost last night to the Katies.

Umpires—Shaw and Mackey.

THE time, the place and the hit—this combination proved effective in giving K. T. K. a 1-0 victory over the Wellsville club last night at Columbian park in a bitterly fought eleven-inning contest, with "Lefty" Baker and "Yock" Huffman pitching four-hit games. The time was the third frame, "Big Shorty" Coleman was placed in position to score at second base by Andy O'Brosky's sacrifice and the hitter was Boone. The former high school coach drove out a single through second that sent Coleman scampering home with the one and deciding tally of the battle.

It was a great exhibition of the national game. The teams played errorless ball behind O'Brosky and Baker, the visitors dusting off the bags on two occasions with double plays, and there was very little socking up there at the plate.

Wellsville went out in order in the opener. The Katies put two men on the sacks in the first, Boone and Kinsey lacing out singles after two were gone. Both were stranded, however, when Withrow was thrown out at first by Reese.

The visitors got two men on the paths in the second. C. Wagner singled to center and Reese struck out, right, an almost certain hit which Kinsey converted into a spectacular catch. Talbott singled past short and Lintner ended the frame by flying out to left.

The winning counter was registered in the third. Baker, first up, drew a walk but was caught off first on Huffman's quick toss to Edwards and struck out for second where he was tagged out. Coleman walked and reached second on Andy O'Brosky's sacrifice. Coleman then circled the hot corner and scored on Boone's single through second.

The Wellsville club had its only scoring chance in the fifth. Talbott started the rally with a double over Withrow's head in center. Lintner lined out to Kinsey in right and Huffman popped up to Coleman. Tommy Adamson then came through with a single to right but Talbott was cut off at the plate by Kinsey's accurate peg to Hall.

Neither side threatened the remainder of the game, the visitors failing to get a man on in the sixth and seventh. The Katies got two on the sacks in the sixth but a double, Talbott to Adamson to Edwards, cleaned them off. Boone, Katies' first sacker, and Talbott, keystone custodian for the losers, collected half the hits made last night, each getting a pair. Kinsey's performance in right and a catch by Rager off Herbert's fly in the fifth provided the fielding high spots.

LAME BACK CAN'T STOP BAMBINO

NEW YORK, July 3.—Despite a lame back and a wrenched shoulder, Babe Ruth is keeping pace with his ambition to hit seventy home runs this year. The big Yankee slugger's 31st homer of the current campaign, made against Garland Braxton at Washington yesterday, puts him one past the half-way mark of his 1927 record and the Yanks have played only 69 of their 154 games. The Bam is 24 games, 22 days and six homers ahead of his last year's record race.

MIDLAND LEAGUE RIVALS TO CLASH

MIDLAND, Pa., July.—Office-Coke plant nine of the Crucible league went right to play Service team in tomorrow's July Fourth double-header by breaking its tie for second place with Open Hearth aggregation last night. Final count was 43 with the Cokers on the long end.

Morning game will be played at 10 a. m. tomorrow, followed by the second contest for the prize purse at 3:30 p. m.

That the outgardeners played errorless at all, let alone some of the sensational catches they pulled off, was remarkable in view of the condition of the pastures which were soggy and ankle deep in water in some places as a result of the heavy rain at noon.

American Loop Race Tightens

That is All Except Play For First Place.

By Les Conklin.
NEW YORK, July 3.—What a scramble the American league race would be if these Yankees weren't so high up! Each of the other seven clubs has a chance for second or third money. Even the tailend Tigers have a percentage of 400 and are only four games away from a first division berth.

All the teams in both leagues that are in the first division or near it will be on their best behavior today and tomorrow; both players and managers put a lot of faith in the old adage that a team in the first division on the Fourth of July—the season's halfway mark—will be there at the end of the year.

The Cubs jumped to third place in the National league and the Reds dropped back into the second division when Artie Nehf, Chicago's veteran southpaw, held Cincinnati to five hits, winning 8 to 2.

Boston's Hornsboys took two extra-inning tilts from the Phillies, 4 to 3 in fourteen innings and 5 to 4 in ten. Hollinsworth twirled good ball for nine innings in the opener.

The other National league teams did not play.
Garland Braxton, once a Yankee, pitched the Nats to a 4 to 3 win over the Yanks. It was the third defeat of the year for George Fingers. Joe Judge's two triples did more damage than Babe Ruth's 31st homer.

Lefty Grove of the Athletics stymied the Red Sox 9 to 2, with four hits in the opener, but the A's dropped the second, 7 to 4. Al Simmons walloped seven hits in eight times at bat.

The White Sox went gunning and snagged two victories from the Browns, 7 to 1 and 9 to 8. Ted Blankenship was a cinch in the opener but the Sox just lasted to win the night-cap.

Uhl took another trimming and Bruce Caldwell, ex-Yale star, again failed as a pinch hitter as Cleveland lost to Detroit, 7 to 3.

The Constant Flame

Narrative of Love and Struggle
Against Temptations

By WINIFRED VAN DUZER

She was doubtful and shaken when she tried the door of Morrow's office. It was barely nine o'clock and the door was locked. So she crossed the street and opened up the shop, busying herself about the showroom with an anxious eye on the clock. A half hour later she went back.

Through the window she had seen that the Judge was not yet in but the outer office was open. She entered and sat down to wait. There was a murmur of conversation in one of the rooms, the room with "Mr. Nolan" on the door. She recognized a voice as that of a woman. It took Emily some time to place the simpering, affected accent. Anne Morrow was there with him.

Emily thought she might knock and ask him to step outside for a moment, hear what she had to tell. So vital it was and she to wait while they said light, frivolous things to each other!

But she couldn't break in on them that way, meet Anne's derisive smile.

They came forward and she watched their shadows on the ground glass. The shadows merged suddenly; Mary was putting his arms around Anne; now her face was lifted, he was kissing her.

A hot, unreasonable anger clutched the waiting girl; she felt neglected, very miserable there with her trouble while they carried on their love making.

A blind impulse brought her to her feet and sent her out of the building. She hid away in the back room of the shop to think. She would have to go back, of course, but she'd wait. Telephone first, be sure Mary was alone. Or perhaps he would come and talk to her here.

But when she telephoned he was out. He had left town for the day, the operator told her.

Nothing to do but wait. After all, she reflected, a day more or less made small difference.

She went home rather early and found Agnes alone. Mr. Rossiter had telephoned and Kitten had gone to see him at his Lya'l of 'ce. Agnes was very low.

"Only shame comes to us from that family, Emily. They killed your poor father and now they'll put murder on that innocent baby."

"Hush, Miz. It isn't the Rossiters; it's just that we're unlucky, I guess." But she couldn't make it sound convincing.

Mrs. Briggs appeared as they were finishing a dreary dinner.

"It's a cool time for old bones, Mrs. Day, dear; what with the dampness in the ground. No longer ago nor yesterday, mind you, I was sayin' the same to the cook an' she answers me 'What you grumblin' for, Briggs, with the peace an' quiet we'll be havin' an' that one gone out of the house.' An' I says—"

Emily learned forward. "Whos gone, Mrs. Briggs? Who's gone out of the house?"

"An' I was just gettin' to that, Emily. It's herself this time 'stead of the husband, poor creature. Sudden-like it was last night when she comes in late an' sends for me."

"Pack my trunks, Briggs," says she, a blowin' smoke into my face. 'I'm leavin' to-morrow,' says she, 'an' I'll not be back for a while.' An' good riddance, says I to myself though nothin' to the likes of her, mind you."

"You mean Avis?" Emily, throat was dry and tight. "Ye mean Avis has gone?"

"She'll be leavin' for Yurrupe the night, mairin' accident. I'm that done in with packin' five trunks. An'—"

But Emily didn't hear the rest. She was out and away, up the lane on the hill.

She flung herself over fences, fought through a hedge, came up at Highcliffe with torn hands and a jagged welt across her cheek. She demanded Mr. Rossiter.

"There is no one at home, Miss," said the butler down his nose.

"But I've got to see someone!"

"Sorry, Miss. Mr. and Mrs. Rossiter are at Tuxedo."

"Dr. Avis—"

"Mrs. Van Alstyne has gone abroad," he replied coldly. And shut the door.

She turned feeling as if life were draining out at her fingertips. Her feet carried her home; she was too dazed to think.

Mrs. Briggs still was talking with Agnes and Emily sank down on the steps. It was then she heard a motor coming at high speed along the street.

CHAPTER 50.

When Kent asked Kitten to his office he had an idea that a few friendly questions might elicit some overlooked bit of information; something to help solve the mystery of Nicky Wickert's death at Deep Valley Inn.

So far the Sheriff had made little progress. Two deputies assigned to the case, shrewd fellows though they were, kept bringing up against a blank wall.

No one had entered the private dining room after Pete the waiter had taken in a tray full of cocktails; Pete had gone off duty in his rather fuddled way without bothering about the check. And no one had stepped in to lock the outside door. The Inn was run in a somewhat casual manner.

The old watchman, smoking his pipe out where the cars were parked, had seen a woman silhouette for a moment against the window under the veranda and later had noticed someone in white going down the drive.

But this, probably, was Kitten; he had paid no particular attention to what happened about the house; his job was to look after the cars.

Things didn't appear very bright for the little Day girl. But she was innocent in the eyes of the law. Kent sometimes had to remind himself of this. It was best for a District Attorney to regard circumstantial evidence as a besetting temptation and not allow himself to be carried away by it.

So he called Kitten in and realized at once that he could expect no co-operation from her. Her lawyer had warned her against talking and she was defiant.

But her assertion that the woman who came into the private dining room that night had a "funny way of saying things" interested Kent. Mrs. Wickert had a Spanish accent; was the woman Nicky's wife?

"No, I saw her once," Kitten objected. "I'd have known her."

She wouldn't tell how or where she had seen Bianca Wickert and he kept turning the theory in his mind. He had heard, of course, about the night the one-time Spanish dancer had gone to the Yacht Club with her little pearl-handled revolver.

He remembered something being said about the disturbance when Bianca was taken out of the Club by the back way. He had a vague feeling this might be important but he couldn't recall the facts at the moment and filed it away in his thought for future consideration.

Five o'clock went by and still he had not broken through the hostility of the girl before him, the girl with her ridiculously gay looking head thrown back and her eyes green and wary.

He gave over the attempt in the end and stood up. Rising quickly, Kitten glanced through the window caught her breath in a furious half-strangled cry. Dashing to the sill she learned far out—might have fallen had he not caught her arm.

"It's her again!" she cried. The woman—you see? In the car—oh, let me go! I'll catch her! let me go, I say!"

But he held fast, turned her about gripping both arms so she faced him in spite of her struggles. Over her shoulder he could see the long, green roadster sweep up the street and his sister's red hat a point of color in the distance.

He was very white. "You know what you're saying, Kathryn?"

"You ask me that? She's the one, I tell you! I never saw her before that night. This is the second time—oh, you'll hold me here, keep me while she gets away!" She had stopped struggling and was looking at him, eyes aflame. He could not doubt her sincerity.

"No. You can go now. She won't get away."

When she had left he moved slowly to his desk. He sat a long time with his head in his hands, there while the summer dark gathered.

But his roadster was speeding when Emily, from her place on the steps, heard and walked out to the road.

CLARA BOW—RICHARD ARLEN IN A SCENE FROM THE PARAMOUNT PICTURE "LADIES OF THE MOB" A WILLIAM AEWELMAN PRODUCTION

CLARA BOW WINS IN DRAMA ROLE

A great many dramas of the under world have been flashed upon the screen but it has taken Clara Bow, queen of the flappers, to give the motion picture public the most stirring of all.

The Paramount star accomplishes this in "Ladies of the Mob," now at the Ceramic theatre. "Ladies of the Mob" is a thrilling story of gangsters and their lives, something which is rarely taken into consideration when the police reports are read.

It is an entirely different Clara Bow, who throws off the wiles of the flapper and plunges herself into a powerful portrayal of a terror-stricken wife of a gangster. It is by far the best bit of acting Miss Bow has at her command since her work in "Wings" and she proves conclusively that she can handle drama as well as the lighter roles which have made her so popular.

The story, which was written by Ernest Booth, is a tale of a young couple of the underworld, the husband a crook and the wife straight. The climax produced a thrill when, surrounded by the police, Miss Bow takes the most drastic method imagined to keep "her man" on the straight and narrow path.

A sound story, thrilling and exciting, well directed and beautifully photographed is "Ladies of the Mob," but, most important of all, it will prove to the motion picture audiences that Miss Bow is not only a flapper—she is a great actress.

BILLIE DOVE AT AMERICAN

A decidedly human story, presenting a real insight into the life of the American girl of average circumstances, is promised in "American Beauty," Billie Dove's latest starring production for First National Pictures scheduled for the American theatre beginning Thursday.

As a typically American girl, with the not unusual ambition to marry a millionaire, but at the same time with a troubling affection for a youth in her own circumstances, the character played by Miss Dove is a very real one and gives her what is possibly her best opportunity for an outstanding screen portrayal. "American Beauty," based on the short story of the same name by Wallace Irwin, was adapted to the screen and produced by Carey Wilson and directed by Richard Wallace.

Tunney O. K. Says Manager

Gene Also Denies Reports of Neglected Training.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, July 3.—Gene Tunney is a better fighter today than at any time before or during the Dempsey match in Chicago last September.

This opinion was conveyed to the writer over the long distance telephone this morning by the final authority of them all in this particular instance, Tunney himself, and by Ed Gibson, who talks the champion's fight for him. Their joint statement came in answer to reports in circulation here that Tunney, either mistaking Heeneey for an out and out sap or having become bored by the tedium of existence, was neglecting his training.

Either way, it didn't sound right. Brother Tunney may become pained with human nature in general from time to time but the detail of physical conditioning, far from being a trial to him, is just about his only known vice. He was justifiably indignant when he heard about it.

Prof. Gibson, when called upon, said among other things, that he was particularly delighted to find Tunney's "judge" of distance to be all that it should. It seems the first thing the professor looks for is a fighter's judge of distance.

"I was tickled to death when I first saw Tunney last week," said the professor. "He only had been boxing a couple of weeks then and I figured that, with his lay off, his judge of distance wouldn't be just right. But, it was. In fact, if it had been any more right, it would have been wrong, maybe. Anyhow, the Tunney we had here is the Tunney we had before the Philadelphia fight with Dempsey. He looks like the old gate receipt to me."

The professor added that Tunney weighs 196 pounds and probably will go to the post weighing more than 191. He has been working steadily and easily, the professor says, having failed to appear on Sunday only because he wanted to "duck the mob" because the professor again. Even then, it appeared, it wasn't a complete day of rest because our hero took to the road for six miles; the professor knows, because he went along—on a motorcycle.

That's one thing about the professor. He won't ask his athletes to do anything he wouldn't do himself—on a motorcycle.
